

Our business grew in size and complexity so that we really needed to find a new accountant that could help us with the next phase of our growth, and were introduced to Mark Holt & Co.

We are delighted that we decided to change. They have helped us with some very complex matters about the very way our various businesses fit together, and helped us ensure that we can continue to expand with new ventures without risking all the value we have created so far. They also make sure we pay the least tax possible within HMR&C rules and that all the basics are done right and on time.

Running several busy restaurants means that we work all hours of the day, but we never have a problem getting hold of Peter Hill to discuss any issues of concern, and often get e-mail or text responses at all hours.

If you want to grow your business but want to make sure it is safe, well structured and tax efficient, then talk to the guys at Mark Holt & Co.
